Erica Speier Berman focuses her practice in all areas of complex business litigation, representing corporations and individuals in commercial disputes. Ms. Berman has experience with insurance defense and professional liability litigation. Her trial experience has included complex matters of various types in both federal and state courts.

Prior to joining Schenck, Price, Smith & King, Ms. Berman worked at a large law firm in New York where she represented insurance brokers and other corporate clients, and counseled clients with respect to contract and securities claims and government investigations. She also worked at a virtual law firm in New Jersey, where she regularly argued motions on behalf of her clients.

Ms. Berman's pro bono work has included representing low-income individuals in eviction proceedings and other housing disputes, and representing an asylum seeker with a complex immigration issue.
