Record Growth Celebrated at Schenck, Price, Smith & King LLP New Attorney Luncheon

-Law firm is growing adding new practice areas and attorneys-

Florham Park, NJ – Schenck, Price, Smith & King LLP recently hosted a New Attorney Luncheon to congratulate the firm’s newest members. The firm has added 20 attorneys in 2026. The event brought together attorneys to welcome them to the Schenck Price team.

In attendance were Victoria Isaiah, Daniel Santarsiero, Gillian Fisher, Elaine Cohen, Arnold Calabrese, Michael Calabrese, Katrina Xyloportas, Joseph Freda, Taylor Green, Anthony Bush, Melanie Andreas, Taryn Zimmerman, Shane Warmington, Elizabeth Binetti, Owen Lipnick, Brenden Brower, Elizabeth Moon and Noah Shier.

John E. Ursin, Esq., Managing Partner, commented that “at a time of rapid consolidation in the New Jersey legal market and unprecedented attorney movement, Schenck Price has focused to its culture to create notable attorney loyalty, which in turn is a substantial benefit to its clients. Schenck Price holds a unique distinction: more than 114 years after opening its doors as a small, two-person firm, it continues to actively serve many of its legacy clients, some with relationships of 70+ years. These historical alliances stand as a powerful statement to the firm’s foundational values of loyalty, strategic counsel and efficiency. More than ever, the firm is focused on innovation with a single-minded focus of providing the highest level of legal services to its clients, bridging the gap between its historic roots to its modern status as a regional powerhouse.”

John also noted that while the firm is pleased to have added 20 attorneys in 2026, the goal was not simple to increase the number of attorneys. Each hire added to the firm’s capabilities, either in new practice areas or in creating a deeper bench for the firm’s increasingly sophisticated capabilities. We are equally focused on the fact that the group are, without exception, great, interesting people who have instantly fit into and added to the culture of the firm.
